The general linear model or multivariate regression model is a statistical linear model. It may be written as  $Y = X\beta + \epsilon$ , where  $Y$  is a matrix with series of multivariate measurements (each column being a set of measurements on one of the dependent variables),  $X$  is a matrix of observations on independent variables that might be a design matrix (each column being a set of observations on one of the ...

Box and Cox (1964) developed the transformation. Estimation of any Box-Cox parameters is by maximum likelihood. Box and Cox (1964) offered an example in which the data had the form of survival times but the underlying biological structure was of hazard rates, and the transformation identified this.

Deterministic modeling process is presented in the context of linear programs (LP). LP models are easy to solve computationally and have a wide range of applications in diverse fields. This site provides solution algorithms and the needed sensitivity analysis since the solution to a practical problem is not complete with the mere determination of the optimal solution.

A look at the psychology literature reveals that researchers still seem to encounter difficulties in coping with multivariate outliers. Multivariate outliers can severely distort the estimation of population parameters.
